

To: nitv@cvsa1.com
Subject: PSE
CC: dektor@fast.net
Date: Mon, 28 Jun 2004 22:12:14 GMT
Status: 3
From: "dirkman@erols.com" <dirkman@erols.com>
Reply-to: dirkman@erols.com

Add to Contacts

Save Address

I just had a conversation with a man from Dektor Corporation who seems to think that a Mr Humble at your company is the biggest piece of shit on the face of the earth (not an exact quote). The man's name is Aurthur Herring. I ran across his company doing a web search for a former Dektor CIS employee.

I phoned this gentleman because I saw his web site which implies that his company is the Dektor that invented the PSE in the early 70's. It, of course, is not. I know this because my father started the original company (Allan Bell, Dektor CIS), a company that many people (including myself) owned stock in, a company that went bankrupt. Therefore this Mr Herring has no association with the original Dektor, much in conflict with statements on the man's website. I am greatly offended at the misrepresentation and the trading on the good reputation of an unrelated company.

If this information can help you do anything to the good Mr Herring, who I gather you don't like either, please use it. I plan on calling the Attorney General's Office in PA tomorrow to see about filing a complaint.

Dirk Bell

mail2web - Check your email from the web at