

Humble Bought Fake "Dr" Title From Fake University Using Fake Accreditation Sold By Fake Accreditation Business

In 1987 Humble, now only co-owner of Nitv, bought a fake title of "Dr" (PhD) from a fake university called Indiana Christian University(ICU) in Indiana. It was NOT any kind of school. It was only a one room store in the same shopping mall as Humble's lie detection business that sold various unearned education degrees, a so-called "diploma mill".

ICU could claim it was accredited. But, it bought its "accreditation" certificate from a fake business in Southern California called Transworld Accreditation Commission International(TACI). TACI sells fake accreditation certificates to anyone who has a business with a name of school, college, university, etc., for a price. Then, that business sells fake education diploma titles, such as Masters, PhD and others just to make money.
